

Anna has worked with non-profit medical associations for nine years, and has over seven years of extensive experience with medical editing and publishing. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree in English from St. Mary's College of Maryland. She previously served as the managing editor for the Journal of Cardiovascular Computed Tomography from its inception in 2007 until 2014. Anna has worked as a staff and communicator liaison with multiple education-related committees, including guidelines, publications, abstracts, verification programs, CME and CE working groups, website management, faculty and chair management for educational programs, and public relations. She can be reached at aleong@hfsa.org