

HFSA Annual Scientific Meeting 2021

PRE-MEETING WORKSHOP

Heart Recovery is Possible

Friday, September 10

1 PM - 5 PM MT (In-person & live-streamed)

Convention Center, Level 3, Colorado B

Program Overview

This workshop reviews data around the lack of assessment of coronary artery disease in patients with new onset systolic heart failure and the potential for heart recovery with a complete revascularization strategy by a heart team approach. Clinical trials demonstrating improvement in heart failure metrics utilizing a high-risk PCI approach will be reviewed as well as an introduction to current clinical trials for patients with complex CAD and HFrEF who could benefit from high-risk PCI (PROTECT IV) or high-risk CABG (IMPACT). This session will also illustrate the phenotypic differences between AMI-CS and HF-CS patients as well as the heterogeneity in treatment for both patient populations. Lessons learned from the NCSI that have guided best practices in the AMI-CS population will be highlighted as well as the lack of real-world evidence in the HF-CS population.
